Yesterday we had a discussion on going steady. Arguments were put up by those opposed, and by those who were for it. This discussion may very well change our opinion on many things. But my thoughts are not good enough. If we had the opinions of experienced older persons we would be more apt to follow their advice.

Yesterday in P.E. we signed up for various sports to be played during Friday nights and on Saturday mornings. Each class were signed up separately. The eight periods of the same class will play against each other until there is only one team from each class. This team will represent the class and play against the other 3 classes. I thought this was a very good idea to arouse interests in the sports of the State High School.

My U.S Constitution and English class is as dead, I have a good mind to do something about it. We are going to publish a magazine to sell at the carnival. Being an editor I'll ask for some original jokes, poems, or any suggestion. Boy, what a cooperation I got no one lends anything in to me or even try to open their mouth.

I'm just wondering what I could do to wake up the class. I could be spring fever.

School is really coming out of its deadness. With the interclass basketball being played, the student stood out in the vicinity. Coert and watched the play. This shows the interest students take in the sports. Also, everybody seems to be buzzing around very lively, the cause of this comotion is probably the carnival which is just around the corner. This has aroused many interests of the students.

Yesterday in Sr. Problems the teacher asked us to grade every person in the class I on participated in class. I thought it was a very good idea, because the students know just how much each person talks.

In my case, for instance Sr. Problem is the only place I do not feel free to talk. In my other class I feel very free to discuss and argue. So the students the job of grading would not be so hard as the teacher.

It was at a dance last Saturday night, I guess it was toward the middle of the dance, there was a shrill up-roar so we, almost all of the dancers, looked toward the way the voice came from. I was shocked to see a girl just laughing at the top of her voice. This attracted many a attention. I had to look twice to convince myself that it was one of our Tri State Hi School teacher who was making all this noise.

I think a teacher would lose the respect of the students if acted as such.

Just to bring back my memory,
I thought of this, how would a person feel when being talked about although it's nothing but the good of her, that you think she isn't in sight, and accidentally the school teacher, Mrs.
Pound so comes around the corner, as
she passed her, came, looked at us,
we smiled at her, and walked away
very fast until out of sight. So I learned to keep my big mouth shut, since we did not like her expressions even though it was something to say about her.

When school re-opened after six weeks of vacation, students who dislike attending school started to quit. This is only a high school. High school education is just the starting point for the students of their life. Why are they quitting pulling for? Probably they don't realize as yet what it's going to be after they get a little older. What's the use of pulling school when one can get only $16 to $19 for their month pay.

Jazz numbers, while studying, makes me jumpy trying to study and keep time at the same time. Iw Det High School is going to have a carnival to raise money for the annual book. I think having a Annual Book is something different from other Recreation Center High schools.

The book will keep our remembrance of all our friends from many different states, such as from Oregon, Washington, and California.

At the many years past, we still can look over in our annuals of our friend's faces and their names.

Don't you think we should have more counselors in this school? We have two counselors but I don't think that's enough. One counselor for the girl and for the boy will keep them too busy. What I think about stageline at dances. I think stageline at dances look awful. By this I mean; they come in right in the middle of a dance and crush in. When they do come in; they come in like bunch of spinaches. I think they want to attract attentions. Even though stags are not allowed, they crush in. I wish they stick to the rule or read books on etiquette at dances. Their behavior at dances are awful. They cut in on one girl always, that is, the most popular girl of them all. That will make her escort feel punny, after all he came with her to have fun. I should think the stags should have more consideration with the girls escort. after all he might pay good money for the dance. end.

This is the only class I really enjoy through the whole day. (next to P.E.) The other periods are bored, and make me want to sleep. Why I like this period is that; it is entirely different from any periods. Like for instance, the teacher read to us and we have class discussion. The class discussion we're having right now is interesting, but we have the wrong kind of crowd to discuss with. Especially the boys, they are too shy to speak up in the discussion. ^{but} I ^{but} they have plenty to say.

Another thing I like about this period is the changing of seats. Since I came in, the seat been changed about 4 times. Some people do not like the idea of changing, but I think this is a good idea, because you'll be bored seating in the same position. I think changing up everything is always good.

Why do boys go around in one big groups, and have special names for themselves? I think the idea of going around in groups is bad, especially one group from certain cities. In one of these groups, there maybe 15 to 20 boys. When all these boys go walking around together, people are attracted to them and is noticeable. They may even get wrong ideas about them. When boys are in a group they are all very loud, but alone they are nice boys. In one of these groups they have a leader among themselves, and they do exactly what he does, for instance in their manner of talking and dressing. It is even bad enough among the girls to go around in groups. So, why do they want to go around in one big groups, and have people talk bad about them. And to disgrace our home town? They are giving an example to others what kind of persons come from certain Town.

The interclass sport competition that is being held is doing good to the school. The Physical Education department here is working out a program of sports which will stimulate competition and the players who participate will learn good sportsmanship. This beginning of the slate found no school spirit. Although this sports program won't stimulate school spirit completely it will help considerably. The participants are from different schools and have a particular style of playing and it will be difficult for them to get along with each other. In other words a one man show.

I am hoping that April 22nd will never come. It is the day on which I have to give my fifteen-minute speech.

"That's nothing," everyone might say, but to me it is worse than having my appendix out.

I get so nervous and tongue-tight when I get up in front of the class. I try to calm down, and clear my mind, but when I go in the front, I almost forget what I am supposed to say. What do you think of our Senior Problem class? At the beginning of this quarter, I was thinking what kind of course it was going to be. I asked several students that took Sr. Problem before what they have learned in there. Most of them said, "Well, there is hardly any homework, and we learned about personality and about our future, such as, how to find jobs and even to marriage.

So far, I think I have done a great deal in that class, especially in writings because first, we wrote our autobiography which took me more than two weeks, second, our experiences in how to visit friends. I sure had a terrible time doing my experiences because, whenever I tried to do it, everyone think that I am off my mind because of my unusualness. I have enjoyed every bit of the book "Gentlemen and ladies" which was read to us. And, finally toward the end of the quarter, we are getting somewhere, by having discussions of some of the problems and things which we would like to know.

- How evacuation have affected me
in my studies.

I think all the teachers know that it is impossible for lots of people to get their homework done.
Just think how we could study in our small apartment, with no
private rooms for a quiet concentration.
Especially me, when I have parents who have company every night and my graduated sister having all her friends in for a chitter, and three small brothers running around and making all the noise they can; high school boy who should be studying,
comes along and joins in the chitter,
and radio going on too.

It is very hard on me because I live in a quiet country home,
with seldom visitors at night.
I used to get all my homework
done and had a chance to have a family tell with every member. Now, in this case I with piles and piles of homework on me, I am thinking how I will ever get through with it. Why not use the study hall? Well, I am taking 7 subjects which takes my study hall out.

Teachers always give the examinations at one time. It is very bad on me, because it usually goes like this: Three or four teachers say "Tomorrow we will have a test". It is all right for the individual teacher to say that, but when it comes to the students we have to take four tests in one day. Then come the worst part. The black manager announced that we are going to have a movie tonight. I have to go because I am crazy about movies, and it only comes around once a month! What can I do?

Why is Mrs. Jaderquist never

I went to see her three or

This school is so different from my school back home. I never have a chance to talk or get an advice decently.

I was planning to graduate this quarter, and look, we have only one week left. I went to see her and talk to her about my graduation, but she is not in. I talked with the secretary, but that way,
I don't get anywhere. They tell me the same old thing _____
"You better wait until Mrs. Jaderquist comes in.", but so far she never did.

I know I found enough

credits to graduate, and my girl
friends from same school is graduating too.

But, I want to say one thing,
maybe if I take the matter
seriously and think it out, it is better for me to stay for another quarter, because three months isn't so long, and by that time I'll complete everything.
If I graduate now, I won't finish everything completely.
So, there is another thinking
I've done, for my own good.

The lack of unity in Tri-State High School is due to non-cooperation from all angles. The reason which outstands the others is that only the same group is appointed to carry on. In this large school very capable people can be found. It is up to the leaders and to the student to promote the welfare of the school. Students generally get tired of one or the group of people performing and that's where monotony enters.

With cooperation from all sides this school can be a success.

I can clearly see the contrast between the people in my senior problems class and leadership training. They are different because one is active and the other is afraid to speak up.

If asked what type I like, I would hesitate since both have reasons for being like they are. I don't like classes where a person says something, and another definitely states he is wrong when the other person had stated his own opinion. Neither do I like classes where people do not speak up when called upon. I imagine it is difficult to find a "perfect" class. If they have something - they usually lack another.

When speaking to some students about Tri-State Hi's activities they say, "The same people always get places." To prevent such statements the leaders must take steps wisely.

To lift the morale of the underclassmen I believe a junior high school student body should be had. Complaint after complaint has come from them saying they were left out. If they had a student body of their own which works hand in hand or even competitively with ours, perhaps, this school can be more enjoyable.

Should I graduate from school this quarter if I can? Perhaps, that is the question that can be heard from many seniors. I, for one, am confronted with it and hope to find a answer.

I have very deeply considered the advantages and disadvantages. Probably, in most cases the advantages outstend the disadvantages.

The thing which I fear most is the probability of another school closing catastrophe. But I guess, I might as well take it as it comes.

I know quite a few boys that are still High School age that are quitting school and going for outside work. If they want to go for outside work they should go after they graduate High School. Although it is good to 'resettle'.
