Dear Daddy:

Friday when we came to Puyallup it was quite cold so we thought it was always like that. But yesterday and today it was so hot that we didn't feel like doing anything, just go to sleep. It seemed as though it was cooler inside than it was outside.

I shouldn't tell anybody about this but I will tell you. Obasan told us that Hosokawa-san sent her a letter saying that maybe you and another man might come out of concentration camp. When I heard this I was very, very glad and so I told Aya-chan, "Let's pray,

so Daddy will come out." Please tell us if you are going to come out when you can.

Goodbye,
Midori
