I am going to the Doctor tomorrow. I have felt a sharp pain under my scapula (on my left) infrequently for several years. It gets worse, often far worse, when I sneeze, and feels better with sustained pressure. It looks very weird to grab your crotch & hold it tight. But it hurts like a motherfucker. I don't think to bring me to my knees. Let it. I think I have a hernia. And I'm not sure. I am more embarrassed to tell a doctor or have surgery (surgery? is that what is done?) on my tucked tail.

When today. Sleep has been getting more & more difficult.
For the last few days but I'm a workaholic for the last few days sleep has been getting more & more wanting to approach. I think I had a Part attack a while ago Back then.

The other night I had a nightmare about being super close to a big step. That used to happen to me until then - not really anymore, but maybe in the future. Thumped, like at night. Trying to sleep & as I was more and more enough for the 41 to go on about that being and deliver me. In the dream I remember to have to eat a frog gradually. Detailed description.

today & yesterday I got angrier with this BFF or guy WILIA video. He seemed so want to help me - I wonder why. He told me that I was a Real Alien so I told him he was Sad, & lonely & so fuck off because the movie there so he wasn't a Real Alien either. That's a guess - But I was right. You can tell who's BFF in a

The Huntington Entrance Gates Artist Unknown
Originally commissioned by Nicholas Carew, 1714

In 1913, Henry E. Huntington, through Duveen Brothers, bought the original gates and had a copy made by Mr. J. Starkie Gardner of Riverholm, Maidenhead Court, Berkshire. The original gates are at the Euston Road entrance; the copy is located at the Oxford Road entrance.
